To Carl Pavett,

The CellarControl system was installed into our venue July in 2009 due to the club looking at ways to save on beer wastage, chemical costs and labour costs. Although we were worried about potential issues created to the quality of beer we decided to give it a trial due to the predicted savings.

We have found the system to maintain the same beer quality for our patrons while having some substantial savings on our beer line cleaning procedures. There have been no complaints about beer quality and we have been happy with the results over the last 12 months.

I would have no hesitation in recommending the system to other venues.

Yours faithfully
